1.1 Format

All sections of this document are to be considered normative, unless otherwise specified.

1.2 Definitions

This section is non-normative.

1. The "AGM": the Annual General Meeting.
2. The "Executive": the Executive Committee of the society.
3. "SCC": Lancaster University School of Computing and Communications.
4. The "SU", or the "Union": Lancaster University Student's Union.
5. The "University": Lancaster University.

2 Documentation

2.1 Applicable Law

1. This and all other documents produced by the society are superseded by applicable law.
2. In the event of a contradiction between applicable law and any other document which may be used by the society, the applicable law takes precedence.
3. In the event of a contradiction between multiple applicable laws, advice should be sought from one or more of the Union, SCC, or a professional legal advisor (such as a solicitor).

2.2 Union Documentation

1. This and all other documents produced by the society are superseded by Union documents on Governance and Bye-laws, in addition to any and all other documents pertaining to the governance and regulation of societies.
2. In the event of a contradiction between Union documentation and documentation produced by the society, Union documentation is to take precedence.
3. In the event of a contradiction within Union documentation, advice should be sought from the Union.

2.3 SCC Documentation

1. This and all other documents produced by the society are superseded by SCC policy, organisation, and rules.
2. In the event of a contradiction between SCC documentation and documentation produced by the society, SCC documentation is to take precedence.
3. In the event of a contradiction within SCC documentation, advice should be sought from SCC.
4. In the event of a contradiction between Union and SCC documentation, advice should be sought from both the Union and SCC.

2.4 The Constitution

1. This, the constitution, is the ultimate authority on matters pertaining to the policy, organisation, and rules of the society, aside from the exemptions provided in 2.1, 2.2, and 2.3.

2. In the event of a contradiction within the constitution, resolution shall be voted upon by the Upper Cabinet (5.2). This resolution is to be published as a Presidential Decree (2.7), and a constitutional amendment should be proposed at the next opportunity.
3. This, the constitution, may be altered in substance only by passing an amendment at the AGM, as detailed in 6.2.
4. This, the constitution, may be altered in style or aesthetic only by the Secretary with the authorization of the entire Upper Cabinet and a simple majority of the Lower Cabinet (5.3).

2.5 Bye-Laws

1. Bye-laws are superseded both by the constitution and any documents superior to the constitution.
2. In the event of a contradiction between or within bye-laws, resolution shall be voted upon by the Executive. This resolution should be published as a Presidential Decree (2.7), and an amendment to the applicable bye-laws should be proposed at the next opportunity.
3. Bye-laws may be created, revised, or repealed only by passing the amendment at a Bye-Election, as detailed in 7.1.

2.6 Directives

1. Directives are superseded both by bye-laws and any documents superior to bye-laws, including the constitution.
2. In the event of a contradiction between or within directives, resolution shall be determined in consultation with the original authors. In the event this is not possible, resolution shall be determined in consultation with the executive members holding the office of the original authors. All applicable directives should be amended with this resolution at the next available opportunity.
3. Directives may be created, revised, or repealed by passing a simple majority vote of the Executive Committee.
4. Directives may be proposed only by members of the Executive Committee.

2.7 Presidential Decrees

1. Presidential Decrees are documents of equivalent standing to the constitution itself.
2. In the event of a contradiction between the Constitution and a Presidential Decree, the Presidential Decree takes precedence, with the exception of the Articles of Impeachment (5.4), which take precedence.

3. All Presidential Decrees expire upon the departure of the signatory of said Decrees from office.
4. A Presidential Decree may be extended with bestowal of the seal of the incoming President.
5. Presidential Decrees may be created, revised, or repealed only by the incumbent President.
